

Soblen Still Dangerously Ill in Britain

By Raymond E. Palmer

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Robert A. Soblen remained dangerously ill in a drug-induced coma today, but doctors reported some signs of improvement.

A medical spokesman said even if the 61-year-old fugitive spy regained consciousness immediately, he could not be moved for at least 48 hours.

A hospital bulletin said: "Although Dr. Soblen remains unconscious he has shown signs that is coma is becoming less."

"His cardiac condition has improved in the last 24 hours."

Doctors reported Friday that the 62-year-old leukemia victim's heart showed signs of exhaustion and added that the situation "gives rise to anxiety."

Soblen's wife spent five hours at the runaway spy's bedside Friday. She watched in the small, closely guarded room as her husband was given oxygen and fed liquids through a tube.

She sometimes wept during her vigil, and was reported to have said: "I can only pray all the time that my husband will live through this terrible ordeal."

Mrs. Soblen, known professionally as Dr. Dina Soblen, flew to London from New York on Friday. Like Soblen, she is a psychiatrist.

Before the visit began, she was searched by a nurse and her purse was examined by a detective. Another detective watched from across the bed as she sat with her husband.

Officials, who still have not discovered how Soblen got the drugs used in his latest bid to escape a life prison sentence in the United States for spying for the Soviet Union, were guarding against any new breakdown in security.

After leaving the hospital, Mrs. Soblen was taken to a secret address in London. She has permission to visit Soblen at any time as long as medical authorities think it advisable, a Home Office spokesman said.

Mrs. Soblen personally put up $40,000 and borrowed $60,000 more to make up the $100,000 bail which was forfeited when Soblen fled the United States to Israel on June 25.

Fulbright to Call via Telstar

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., will pick up a telephone receiver in the mezzanine of a Little Rock hotel next Wednesday and place a long distance call to London, England—via Telstar, the communications satellite.

The senator will place the call at precisely 11:45 a.m.—Telstar, like time, waits for no man.

Fulbright will speak with David Bruce, U.S. ambassador to Great Britain in the American Embassy in London.

The call will go to the earth communications center at Andover, Maine, where it will be bounced to Telstar, then to the English ground tracking station at Goonhilly Downs and on to the American Embassy.

The call, the first via Telstar from Arkansas, will be made at a private luncheon sponsored by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. Warren Bray, vice president and general manager of the company in Arkansas, said the call will last about 10 minutes.

A scale model of the satellite will be on display at the luncheon. Telstar has been orbiting the earth for two months.

Mrs. Ruth Norman, 62, Dies Friday

Mrs. Ruth Maye Norman, aged 62, longtime resident of Hempstead, died Friday in a local hospital. She was the wife of the late Tom Westmoreland.

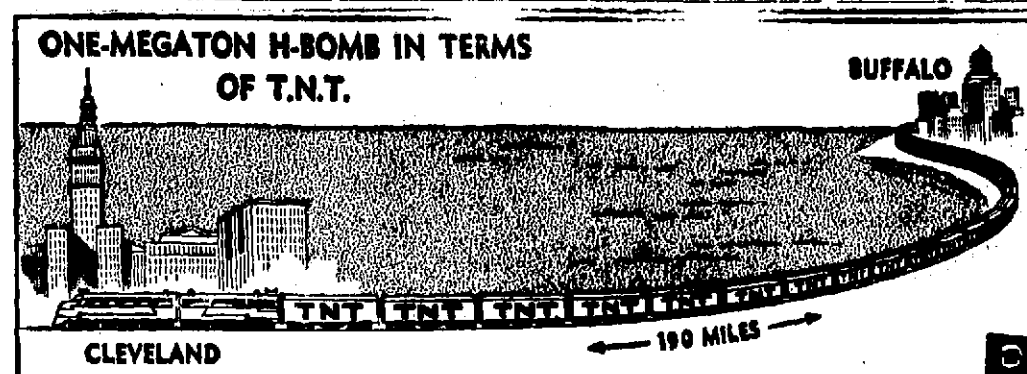

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. James Ingram of Corpus Christi, Texas and a brother, Marion F. Adkinson of Ashdown.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Herndon-Cornelius Chapel by the Rev. J. W. Story and the Rev. Wayne Johnson.

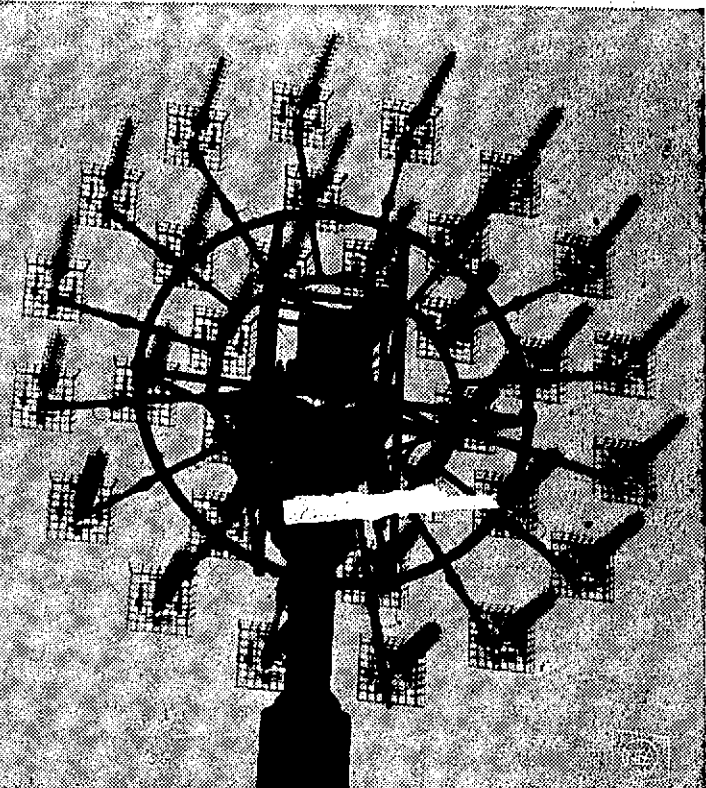

Burial will be in Westmoreland Cemetery.

Weather
Total 1962 precipitation through August, 32.26 inches; during the same period last year, 39.41 inches.

Arkansas — Mostly cloudy with occasional showers and thunder showers Saturday through Sunday.

ONE-MEGATON H-BOMB IN TERMS OF T.N.T.
A LOT OF BANG—It would take 20,000 freight cars loaded with T.N.T. to equal the first high-altitude, one-megaton nuclear explosion by the United States high above Johnston Island in the Pacific. They would stretch nearly 190 miles, about the distance between Buffalo and Cleveland. Russia's giant 57-megaton blast set off last fall equaled the explosive force of a line of T.N.T.-packed cars 10,773 miles long. Smallest known U.S. detonation was one-tenth of a kiloton, or about the power of two freight cars full of T.N.T.

Cuba Become Major Pawn in Cold War

By BEM PRICE
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The infusion of Soviet military equipment has made Cuba a major pawn in the cold war.

No longer is it just a Western Hemisphere problem. It has an explosive potential embracing the entire system of U.S. alliances.

If the United States should take military action to remove the Cuban thorn—and three senators have recommended it—the price would be far higher than many would suspect.

Further, the United States would be accused of using the same tactics it condemns when used by the Soviet Union.

If the nation permits Cuba to continue unmolested, then Cuba becomes an ideal training ground for Latin-American guerrilla forces which could undertake what Soviet Premier Khrushchev calls "wars of liberation."

There is no doubt that the United States could clean house in Cuba—if the nation would be willing to pay the price.

The Communist regime of Fidel Castro has had three years in which to indoctrinate, train and equip an armed force variously estimated at between 250,000 and 300,000 men. These men are well equipped with former U.S. weapons and Soviet bloc arms.

Further, the presence of 3,500 Soviet technicians would provide a stiffening force for the Cubans. These men undoubtedly would operate the anti-aircraft missiles they

A.L.C. Plans to Hold Hearings

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Legislative Council will receive a variety of committee reports and a tentative schedule of budget hearings at its meeting next Friday.

The council cannot take up state budgets until after the November election, because of a proposed constitutional amendment to allocate 50 per cent of state revenues for schools.

The schools are getting almost 50 per cent but this is after a three per cent deduction for collection and other costs.

Initial budget work is to begin Oct. 29 with departments whose revenues come from set percentages, such as the Highway Department and the Game and Fish Commission.

The council also will take up next week proposals to abolish the state land office, extend the state retirement program to employees with 10 years of service, and to attract more out of state visitors.

Duty Increase on Cotton Is Ruled Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Tariff Commission has ruled against an increase in the duties on cotton textiles imported into the United States.

The decision, announced Thursday, was reached on a 3-2 vote. The ruling displeased President Kennedy and U.S. textile manufacturers and was hailed by Japanese exporters.

Kennedy said in a statement he will propose legislation early next session to solve "the inequity of the two-price system of cotton."

And, the President said, he is asking the Agriculture Department to come up with a domestic program to eliminate the two-price system.

The administration promised earlier to protect U.S. textile producers from the stronger foreign competition that is expected to result if his freer trade program is enacted.

The Tariff Commission had been considering a proposal to attach a surtax of 8½ cents a pound on textiles imported into the United States. This would have matched the difference between the world cotton price and the U.S. domestic price.

U.S. cotton is supported domestically at 8½ cents above the world price. The government pays an equivalent subsidy on U.S. exports to help American cotton compete overseas.

American textile manufacturers say the system puts them at a disadvantage with overseas competitors.

In announcing its decision the commission said imports of articles containing cotton are not materially affecting Agriculture Department programs supporting the prices of cotton and cotton products.

"The application of an import fee would necessarily operate not only to restrict the volume of imports of cotton articles but also to raise the sale prices of both the imported and the domestic cotton articles that compete with one another," the majority said.

"The higher prices would clearly result in a reduction in the aggregate consumption of such articles."

Ashley Co. to Vote on Bonds

HAMBURG, Ark. (AP)—Ashley County voters will decide next Tuesday on a $340,000 proposed bond issue to finance construction of a plant for the I. J. Bernstein and Son Manufacturing Co. of New York.

The company makes boys shirts. It has indicated it will set up a subsidiary corporation in Arkansas and lease the plant from Ashley County at a rate that would retire construction and maintenance costs in 20 years.

The bonds, which would be issued under Amendment 49, would be guaranteed by a one-half mill tax, which would not go into effect unless the company defaulted on the lease payments.

The plant would employ 200 persons at the start and eventually would employ 500. The J.C. Penney Co. is the principal outlet for Bernstein products.

Voting Machine Chairman Named
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—William J. Smith, a legislative secretary to three Arkansas governors, has been appointed campaign chairman for the permissive voting machine amendment, which is on the November general election ballot.

Herbert Thomas Sr., chairman of the committee behind the amendment, announced the appointment Thursday. Smith will direct the campaign for voter approval of the amendment.

Smith served as legislative secretary to Ben Laney, Francis Cherry and, now, Gov. Orval Faubus.

Number of U.S. Integrated Classes Mount

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Negro and white youngsters attended classes together in greater numbers than ever before as the fall term opened this week to the muted rumble of minor violence in New Orleans and Negro boycotts protesting segregation in the North.

But the spitting, booing New Orleans white crowds and the bullets smashing the glass of a parochial school door couldn't overshadow the fact that the Deep South city completed the first week of its biggest school desegregation in relative quiet.

About 300 Negroes were in integrated classrooms in 20 public and 36 parochial schools, the crowds dwindling, the bomb threats and the pickets diminishing.

The shots were fired at the St. Rosalie Elementary School, across the Mississippi River from New Orleans, apparently from a passing car in the grey light of dawn Friday. No one was hurt and authorities had no clues.

Unexpectedly, one parochial school closed. The parish priest said "nobody showed up" at "Our Lady of Good Harbor at Buras, some 80 miles south of New Orleans. Five Negroes enrolled on opening day last week but haven't been back since."

The 71-year-old Leander Perez Sr., Louisiana segregationist leader, watched the week's developments and then predicted that Negroes will push the white people out of New Orleans in 10 years.

Public school desegregation spread in Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Maryland, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia and in the North as well.

Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina remained the only states with no integration at the public school level. Attempts to lower classroom racial barriers failed in a number of cities, including Albany, Ga., scene of mass anti-segregation demonstrations and 1,200 arrests.

Firing on U. S. Car Is Soft-Peddled
By CARL HARTMA

BERLIN (AP)—American authorities today soft-peddled the Soviet firing on a U.S. Army sedan in East Germany.

Soviet soldiers fired about 40 shots at a U.S. car that got too close to a Red military train Tuesday. Only one shot hit the car, and no one was hurt.

U.S. officers concealed the affair but it leaked out Thursday night. The Army in Germany still had issued no official information today, although the State Department released a sketchy account in Washington.

Army spokesmen said they could not confirm reports that Col. Ernest von Pawel, head of the U.S. liaison mission with the Soviet forces in East Germany, would make a protest to Gen. Ivan Yakubovsky, the Soviet commander in East Germany.

The car was an olive-drab sedan of the liaison mission stationed at Potsdam, a suburb in East Germany southwest of Berlin. Two U.S. officers in it were touring nearby areas of East Germany.

A well-informed source said the two officers encountered a Soviet train at a grade crossing. Soviet soldiers, apparently recognizing the car's big yellow license plates, opened fire.

Although the source admitted the officers had been observing the train, he insisted they were not in a restricted area and were fully within their rights. The source called the Soviet shooting irresponsible.

The secrecy thrown around the incident was designed to minimize its importance, American officials said, because the shooting had no connection with current tensions over Berlin. They said publication of the news exaggerated its importance.

Actress Files for Divorce
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Linda Darnell says her airline pilot husband is unfaithful, cruel and an habitual drunkard.

She filed a suit for separate maintenance on Thursday saying Merle R. Robertson, 44, had admitted to her that he is the father of a child expected by Vera Violetta Gregorie, a Yugoslavian actress.

Gladiolus, the Flower With Such a Warlike Name, Has a Very Happy Nick-name

By MARY ANITA LASETER

With the starting of school this month, perhaps we are more "spelling conscious" than usual. Therefore, the flowers we shall be "picking" today will be those which are full of controversy regarding their spelling, but are full of enjoyment for all who view them.

First, we have the gladiolus. Now, everyone agrees on the singular form, but when you get a bouquet of them, that's when the arguments start. If they weren't so pretty used in bouquets, we wouldn't have so much trouble, but in this part of the country, nearly everyone grows them in their gardens and uses them in their homes, churches, etc.

The flower with the sharp, slender leaves gets its name directly from the Latin, gladiolus, meaning sword. How ironic that a flower with a war-like name such as this, should have a happy nickname, glad!

Even authorities disagree on which plural form is correct. Gladioli is the Latin plural, but the more Americanized form is just like the singular, gladiolus. Both are correct, and both are used frequently.

Gladiolus come in a great range of colors and shades and are one of the most popular summer flowering bulbs. Coming from the rain forests of Africa, they've been greatly improved in size, sturdiness, and color. Some years ago there were 150 known species, but now there are probably more as the result of work by amateur and professional botanists.

They are very desirable for room decorations, not only for their current beauty, but also for their lasting loveliness. While the blossoms themselves last for some days if cut either early in the morning or late in the evening, the undeveloped buds open in succession, so that a cut spike will go on blooming for several days.

A tall arrangement will eventually be a beautiful floating one.

If you want to "catch" someone in misspelling, ask them to spell crape myrtle, and we imagine the first thing said will be CREPE. We just learned the other day that this is not right, but it should be spelled as it sounds, CRAPE.

The pretty flowering shrub, which sometimes grows into small trees, is found in abundance throughout the South. All over Arkansas, even in the northern part of the state, you can find crape myrtle in white and various shades of pink and purple. Often it will freeze to the ground in the colder areas but will come up again in the spring and bloom, even when the plant is small.

Though we may take this common place flower for granted, to the person who first glimpses its beauty in full-bloom, the sight is breath-taking. We knew such a person once a number of years ago. She was from Ohio and had never seen crape myrtle before her first season spent in Hope.

Her fascination with it made us look more carefully, and it has increased our appreciation for it ever since.

Questions Need for Plan at Dollarway
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A federal judge Thursday raised the question of whether the Dollarway School Board needed a desegregation plan if only one or two Negroes seek admission to the predominantly white Dollarway School each year.

Judge J. Smith Henley posed the question during a hearing on an application by Sarah Etoria Howard, 14, seeking to transfer from an all-Negro school to Dollarway.

"I wonder whether the board has given any consideration to taking a broader view in light of what appears to be a very small demand numerically," Henley commented.

Only two Negroes are attending Dollarway this year. Two others who attended last year have moved from the district. Sarah, a sophomore, was the only Negro to apply this year.

Henley, who took the girl's request under advisement along with the question of whether to continue the board's desegregation plan for another year, director attorneys for both parties to file briefs by Sept. 13.

The school board was told that it should consider that any racial discrimination in school assignments is unconstitutional but

GOP Candidate Makes Plans

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Dr. Kenneth Jones of Little Rock, Republican opponent to Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., will formally open his campaign Wednesday night in Fort Smith.

Jones issued his itinerary in Little Rock today.

The schedule lists a kickoff reception next Wednesday in Fort Smith from 6 to 8:30 p.m.

Four rallies also are on the schedule for this month: Sept. 14 at Springfield, Sept. 15 at Eureka Springs, Sept. 18 at a time and place to be announced and Sept. 21 in the courthouse square at Jonesboro.

The Little Rock orthopedic surgeon will use a "Jones for Senator" truck in traveling the state. The truck, with a brightly painted superstructure, contains a small office, refrigerator, stove and supplies of campaign literature.

Buckley Wins Over Reform Candidate

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Buckley, the Bronx Democrat leader, fought off a reform drive and won renomination today with the backing of President Kennedy.

Then the political veteran announced that his next term would be his last—that he would not campaign again. He indicated that he deferred retirement this time only to vindicate himself against reform charges of "bossism."

Final returns in the week hours gave Buckley, 73, a margin of almost 3,000 votes over David H. Levy, 35, a lawyer, who was backed by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and the reform leaders, former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The unofficial count in the 23rd Congressional District was Buckley 20,158, Levy 17,218.

Reformers won in one congressional primary but lost in others in the city.

In a contest between two incumbents in Manhattan's reelected 20th Congressional District, Rep. William Filts Ryan, a reformer, downed Rep. Herbert A. Zelenko, a regular, 26,298 to 18,450.

Ogden R. Reid defeated incumbent Edwin B. Dooley for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 26th Congressional (Westchester) District.

In the Westchester fight, Reid had the backing of the county GOP organization against Dooley, whose winning margins have been declining. Reid is former U.S. ambassador to Israel and former president of the New York Herald Tribune.

State Sen. Janet Hill Gordon defeated Assemblyman Robert M. Quigley for the GOP nomination for Congress in the 35th District, which comprises eight upstate counties.

Republican National Chairman William E. Miller won renomination to the House of Representatives by a margin of nearly 3-1 over Donald C. Chaplin of Lockport in the 40th Congressional District in western New York.

Estes Favored by Superiors, Hale Says
By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Battle Hales, a stormy figure in the Agriculture Department, testified today his superiors gave Billy S. Estes "extremely favored treatment."

Hales, who has been employed by the department for 21 years, told the Senate Investigations subcommittee in prepared testimony that department officials still are unwilling to take needed precautions against abuses.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, Undersecretary Charles S. Murphy and Horace D. Godfrey, farm aid administrator, all have sworn that Estes never received favors from their agency.

The Senate group is trying to determine whether influence in government circles helped Estes build his boom-to-bust empire on government cotton and grain programs.

Thursday Estes' lawyer, John Demmon, testified he had a long distance telephone chat with Rep. J. T. Rutherford, D-Tex., the day

Meat Prices Up as Farmers Withhold Stock

CORNING, Iowa (AP)—Supplies of slaughter livestock in the Midwest were running low today and retail meat prices already were on the increase during a buildup of the National Farmers Organization's withholding action.

After a full week of NFO action to keep beef, hogs and sheep off the market until processors agree to price contracts, packing-house plants in Iowa and some neighboring states were laying off workers because of the lack of supplies.

There were no reports of retail counters running out of fresh meat, but some stores in Des Moines, Kansas City, Chicago and Louisville boosted prices from 5 to 10 cents a pound. Increases of 10 to 15 cents a pound for some cuts appeared possible next week.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture in Chicago also said that the lag in livestock receipts this week may cause prices to go up next week.

NFO national headquarters here said that price adjustments since Labor Day were an indication of the effectiveness of its holding action but that retail boosts were not necessarily caused by it.

Sensitive to possible consumer reaction, NFO officials said they were checking to see if price rises were justified.

National president Oren Lee Staley was in Minnesota Friday night for farmer meetings and was expected back today. Headquarters said a statement would be forthcoming after his return.

Reports from various sources indicated that meat price rises have been spotty, especially in supermarkets. Some Des Moines supermarkets reported fresh meat up 5 to 10 cents a pound and other stores of the same type said they were holding the line for the time.

The terminal market and buying stations have been paying more for livestock this week. Chain store representatives at Chicago said livestock bought at the stockyards there this week already has begun arriving at retail stores.

Pilkinton to Be Fulbright Manager?
Informed sources said today that James H. Pilkinton, Hope attorney and former judge of the 6th Chancery District of Arkansas would probably be named next week as state campaign manager for Sen. J. William Fulbright in his bid for reelection in the November General Election. Senator Fulbright is opposed by a Republican in the November election.

Judge Pilkinton could not be reached for comment this morning as he was en route to St. Charles, Mo., to enter his daughter in Lindenwood College. His office here said that any announcement concerning the matter would have to come from Senator Fulbright himself, and not from Judge Pilkinton.

Conway Co. Seeks Local Option Vote
MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—Conway County residents attempting to get an anti-liquor law passed filed a petition Thursday in the county clerk's office to get the issue on the November general election ballot.

Petitioners had tried to get 2,000 names before filing the petition, but J. G. Moore, dry forces attorney, has not been available for comment. No estimate was available on the number of signatures obtained.

Petitions must bear signatures equal to 15 per cent of the number of votes cast in the last gubernatorial election in order to get the issue on the general election ballot.

4 Indicted for U.S. Violations

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A federal Grand Jury indicted 4 persons, including a former North Little Rock policeman, Thursday for violation of federal laws.

The Grand Jury for the Eastern District of Arkansas indicted Joseph Carl Stylers, 30, an officer until his arrest May 25, on a charge of conspiring in the distribution of moonshine whiskey.

Virgil Riley, 33, a North Little Rock mechanic, was indicted with Stylers. Riley has been returned to prison to serve 2 1/2 years on a liquor charge for which he had been on probation.

Four Swift men were indicted on a charge of stealing about 450 pounds of shrimp from a refrigerated truck traveling in interstate commerce. They are Philip Alonzo Huskey, 20, Delon Parr Sullivan, 21, Bobby Carl King, 20, and Jimmy Paul Rorex, 22.

Johnson Calls on Pope, Sees Advances

By JAMES M. LONG

VATICAN CITY (AP)—U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson called on Pope John XXIII today and afterward predicted great economic and social advances will result from the forthcoming Roman Catholic worldwide council.

Johnson, on the final day of his six-nation, 15-day goodwill tour around the Mediterranean, spent 41 minutes alone with the 80-year-old ruler of the Roman Catholic Church.

Then the vice president's wife, Lady Bird, and 18-year-old daughter, Lynda Bird, joined in the unusually long audience, which lasted another eight minutes.

Only 20 minutes had been set aside on Johnson's program for the audience. It was clear Johnson and the Pope enjoyed their meeting.

"I had the great honor and privilege to be in the presence of his Holiness, and his wisdom and his knowledge, which is so extensive. I was listening and learning," Johnson said later.

"I was stimulated by the spiritual leadership I have just observed."

Referring to the worldwide Roman Catholic meeting opening in St. Peter's on Oct. 11, Johnson said: "From that meeting will flow great advances in the economic and social field."

From the Pope's library, the Johnsons paid the usual call at the offices of the Vatican Secretariat of State.

Then Johnson left to continue his program in Rome while Mrs. Johnson and her daughter remained to tour the Vatican Museum and see the Sistine and Pauline chapels.

The vice president toured Italy's space research center outside Rome. On Wednesday, Johnson and Italy Foreign Minister Atilio Piccioni had signed a convention for Italian-American cooperation in space research.

Vatican sources said Johnson gave the Pope a message of greeting from President Kennedy and the Pope, in return, gave Johnson a message for the President.

Kennedy to Visit Family

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flies to Newport, R.I., today to spend the weekend with his family.

The President plans to return to Washington Monday morning.

Finances Must Be Made Public

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tax-exempt foundations and similar organizations will be required to make public greater financial information about themselves.

And their tax returns will be given closer examination.

The stricter requirements, announced Thursday night by the Internal Revenue Service, are believed an outgrowth of persistent congressional inquiry into possible tax abuses in this field.

Jerry Sherman Tucker, 18, of Dallas, Tex., has been sentenced to nine years in prison in the $20,820 robbery. The case against a third defendant, Bobby Gardner Redmond, 16 of Dallas, is pending.

Distance Is Still on Side of U.S.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The only comfortable element in 17 years of cold war for the United States has been the distance separating U.S. shores from the Russian and Red Chinese centers of communism.

It was never more than a chilly comfort but now even this has been shriveled.

Communism was still a long way off when Americans got directly involved with it by fighting in Korea, breaking the Berlin blockade with an airlift, or flying helicopters over the Vietnamese battlefields.

This program of helping other people slave off communism was never entirely altruistic. It was also an ultimate protection against the encroachment of communism on this country.

The late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles put it honestly enough, if bluntly, when he said American foreign policy was guided by "enlightened self-interest."

And, so long as communism was not a next door neighbor Americans could enjoy a sense of security denied those who had to rub elbows with it, like the Greeks, Turks, Iranians, and Koreans.

It was a sense of security which could persist even when the Soviets, by developing intercontinental missiles, made the power of communism, if not communism itself, just a few minutes away.

Rightly or wrongly it could be assumed the Russians were not nifty enough to start, on a whim, a long-range missile war which would mean their own undoing since this country has missiles, too.

It has been a galling experience for the Communist world to see the United States arm the Communists' neighbors, make alliances with them, or even fight for them right next-door, as in Korea.

The United States had been spared a similar embarrassment until recently through the benefit of remoteness, Communist weakness and, perhaps, lack of Communist opportunity.

There could never have been any doubt the Communist world, which started behind the United States militarily, would inflict the embarrassment when it felt strong enough or the opportunity was appropriate.

The opportunity came, the first break in the solid non-Communist world of the Western Hemisphere, when Cuba went Communist under Fidel Castro and under circumstances which inhibited American interference.

Since the Communist take-over in Cuba was the result of an internal revolution, the United States could not intervene at once on the grounds that it was, under the terms of the Monroe Doctrine, an attempt by an outside power to subjugate an American people.

And, unless it did intervene immediately, intervention later would be even more difficult for reasons which could have been predicted at the time:

Castro would, as he did, seek both the help and protection of Russia. He got the help, first economic, now military. And no one is even suggesting where that military help may stop.

Cuba could become a Russian missile base and an increasing taunt and torment to this country. At least it would seem to foretell a Cuban training ground for guerrillas to spread communism elsewhere in Latin America.

The great unknown in all this is how much protection Russia will give Cuba if the United States takes any kind of direct action against Castro, either through direct invasion, which seems unlikely, or more obliquely by blockading any ships, including Russian, carrying military help to Castro.

So the wheel has made the full turn and the United States is now getting the first taste of the embarrassment and dilemma it has posed for the Communist world so long.

The Russia of today is not the Russia of Stalin's day. When he started the Berlin blockade, this country had a monopoly on the atomic bomb. No wonder he didn't risk a big war by shooting down the airlift.

Premier Khrushchev has the

Dreams of FarAway Happiness

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Tell that desperate mother who wrote you a short time back to let her husband take the six children, get her divorce and marry the man she loves.

Like a big-hearted boob, I gave up the man I loved to let my excuse for a husband have a second chance. Our baby had just been born. Result? A dull nothing for 15 wasted years.

The daughter upon whom we both lavished our love doesn't care the snap of her selfish finger for me; her only concern is her friends and preposterous needs.

My husband's great love is his work. He'll slave overtime for hours upon end out of blind loyalty to a grasping employer. My desires, wants and happiness count for naught.

The man I really loved is far, far away and much older. He went with a construction company as camp boss and, when last heard of was in Iran. I think of the wonderful life I might have had instead of the dreary existence of a dutiful wife whose conscience worked overtime, and could cry—but tears would do no good—Heartbroken.

Dear Heartbroken: You assume that you would have been happy. How do you know? The life you better have lived always seems better than the one you chose. That's what psychologists call the fallacy of the elsewhere—based upon a dream and not reality. To a large extent, we make our own happiness, irrespective of people and places. Reverse your thinking and see what happens.

Dear Helen: You referred in a recent column to a child-bearing as an "ordeal." I have already given birth to one child and the experience was far from an ordeal. I had every confidence in my wonderful doctor so anticipated the experience as I would a glorious soul-stirring adventure.

Having read "Childbirth Without Fear" I eagerly awaited the event and was not disappointed being fully conscious all through the birth of our daughter.

As soon as it became known I was pregnant, mothers I hardly knew rushed in to recount their horrible experiences. All I heard were tales of pain, fear and misery. I'm not the type to be easily frightened but many girls are; hence this letter to your column.

Their fear will make the delivery hard and unpleasant.

In my opinion all too many women are cheated out of this inspiring experience simply because other women have scared the living daylight out of them by picturing child-bearing as an ordeal.

You have a responsibility to your readers not to perpetuate old wives' tales about the terrifying pain of giving birth, or envisioning having a baby as something to dread and to be got over as soon as possible. Instead, help women to learn the joy of it by encouraging them to anticipate the truly happy event.—Mrs. Wayne Wright, Oram, Utah

Dear Mrs. Wright: Whether or not child-bearing is painful or painless, depends to a large extent upon the general health and age of the mother. I have known women, my aunt was one, who suffered beyond words but—she bomb, and plenty else. Before this country tries anything against Cuba, it must consider what Khrushchev might do in turn. For example: If this country blockades Cuba, he may blockade Berlin.

Would the United States be willing thus, in order to crush Castro, to risk the chance of a Berlin blockade and a world war?

This is something the United States will have to stew and fret over a long time as it finds itself in exactly the same kind of box it built for communism long ago.

Tree Farming

cycle is maintained over the years.

Maturity of a tree varies with the purpose for which it is to be used. Trees to be used for pulp, generally mature in about 10 years. Climate and soil conditions also may produce a variance.

Other uses for Arkansas timber include lumber, utility and construction poles, barrel staves, plywood and veneer products and railroad cross ties.

Most of Arkansas' certified tree farms grow both pine and hardwoods. Most are natural stands, but some farmers plant pine seedlings as a regular crop.

A certified tree farm is privately owned forest land on which taxes are being paid and which is being managed to produce continual crops of forest products.

The farms are certified by the state tree farm committee, which awards landowners a certificate and a green and white tree farm sign to be posted on the property.

State and federal foresters act as inspectors. The foresters visit a timberland at the request of the owners and make a recommendation to the tree farm committee.

The landowners harvest their own trees and sell them to local forest industries.

George Kelly, secretary of the committee, said southern counties were the chief timber producing areas in Arkansas because climate and soil tended to bring a quicker harvest.

The state as a whole long has been a leader in the forest industry. It ranks alongside Washington, Oregon, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi as a timber producer and was one of the first states to organize a tree farm program when the programs were begun in the early 1940s.

The program in Arkansas is sponsored by the Arkansas Forest Industries Committee in cooperation with the state Forestry Commission, the Agricultural Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service.

November Draft Call Is 4,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The November draft call has been set at 4,000 men.

The figure announced Thursday by the Pentagon is the same as for October and 1,000 below the July, August and September quotas.

Member's Widow Named to Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Mrs. John Bray, widow of the late Mayor of Marked Tree, was appointed to the state Liquified Petroleum Gas Board Thursday to fill the unexpired term of her late husband, John Bray, Gov. Orval E. Faubus made the appointment. The term expires in January.

She was in her forties and it was her first child. Young girls who have led natural, outdoor lives come through as you did. Anyway, I like the spirit of your letter.

Prairie county was formed November 25, 1846, of territory taken from Pulaski county, and was named for the Grand Prairie, on which it is located.

HEARING THROUGH THE TEMPLES—Pat Flanagan, 17, has invented a revolutionary boon to the deaf, particularly those not helped by present hearing aids. Called the "Neurophone," or nerve phone, it is different from present hearing aids in that two insulated electrodes are placed over the temples and sounds are transmitted through the nerves directly to the hearing centers of the brain. Pat, who lives in Houston, Tex., explains how it operates: "Actually, it isn't a sound you hear. It's more like hearing a thought."

Estes Favored

after Estes was arrested. He said he discussed the case with Rutherford—"It was the biggest news item in town"—but had not realized their conversation lasted 51 minutes.

"We had quite a lot to talk about," said Dennison.

Dennison told about the telephone conversation after Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., advised him that telephone record showed 16 long distance telephone calls between Dennison and Rutherford in a year.

The Pecos, Tex., promoter was arrested March 29 on federal fraud charges, accused of selling mortgages on non-existent fertilizer tanks. He is awaiting trial on this charge and a state charge of theft.

Hales repeated under oath today substantially the same allegations he voiced against superiors at a news conference May 4.

He said he was forced to appear at the news conference without being allowed time for adequate preparation in a "most blatant effort to discredit my testimony."

He said he was locked out of his office as an investigative official and barred from Estes case files last spring after he had advocated a crackdown.

The department ultimately did cancel cotton planting allotments Estes had gained through land deals, saying he got them illegally. The department levied more than $600,000 in civil penalties against him, $554,000 for the allotment transfers and $48,000 for overplanting in Alabama.

Hales—contradicting Freeman, Murphy, and other officials—charged this was done only because of the fear of a scandal following Estes' arrest.

Case of Polio

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Health Department revealed Thursday that one case of polio was reported in Arkansas last week. The paralytic case, discovered in Garland County, brings to five the number reported in Arkansas so far this year. During the same period a year ago, 10 cases were reported.

The first white man to build a house at present Little Rock was William Lewis, a trapper, in 1812.

Cuba Become

brought with them. A successful U.S. landing in Cuba and the destruction of Cuban armed forces would require far more than a few Marines.

If the United States is willing to stop all ships, including those flying the Soviet flag, by seizure or sinking, if necessary, then Cuba could be blockaded.

Military action against Cuba easily might set off a chain of Communist pressures against the United States and her allies in Korea, Southeast Asia, Berlin, the Formosa Straits and the Middle East.

If Cuba were conquered, the United States then would be left with the task of providing a government. Any government so installed probably would be viewed as a puppet regime, even as the United States regards the regimes in Poland, East Germany and Hungary.

In brief, a military solution to the Cuban problem is not a simple one.

Undoubtedly, Cuba is becoming a mecca for dissident elements throughout Latin America.

The unrest in Latin America could be a fertile field for exploitation by Communists native to the Western Hemisphere.

If Castro communism spreads, the whole of Latin America could be thrown into a turmoil, afflicted with bloody revolutions, counter-revolutions and wars.

The Communist technique of nibbling at the free world until the United States is isolated would be one more step nearer fruition.

And therein lies the danger to the United States.

some discrimination was allowed between the transition period established by the U.S. Supreme Court.

He said the real question is: "Is this a tolerable amount of unconstitutional?"

Noting the small number of Negroes attending the school, Henley said it is not necessary for a given number of Negroes to attend Dollarway School.

Sarah appeared on the witness stand Thursday and was questioned by her father, George Howard Jr., the attorney who filed the petition.

She told the court she sought to attend Dollarway because it was accredited by the North Association and because she wanted to attend an integrated school.

She added that her parents also wanted her to attend the school.

Among the witnesses Thursday was Superintendent Charles Fallis who said he believes all-Negro Townsend School, which Sarah has attended, will be accredited by the NCA next March.

WHAT DID THE DOCTOR SAY ABOUT YOU? WHY HE SAID, "HMMMA" AND "UH-HUH" AND, "JUST AS I THOUGHT..."

NO, WHAT DID HE REALLY SAY? IS MY HEART BETTER OR WORSE?

THE DOCTOR SAID WHAT HE ALWAYS SAYS... THAT YOU COULD BE HELPED BY A VERY EXPENSIVE OPERATION. SO I SAID TO HIM, "PIFFLE!"

OH, YOU DID NOT, PAPA!

I SEE THE OLD BOY'S AT HIS PETIT POINT AGAIN--I THINK I'LL HAVE SOME FUN AND RIB HIM A LITTLE ABOUT HOW GOOD A MAN HE IS WITH NEEDLE AND YARN!

OH, NO YOU DON'T! YOU KNOW HOW SENSITIVE HE IS ABOUT HIS HOBBY AND YOU'RE LIABLE TO KID HIM RIGHT OUT OF IT! I'M GLAD TO SEE AT LEAST ONE MALE IN THIS HOUSE DOING SOMETHING CONSTRUCTIVE INSTEAD OF SNORING ON THE SOFA OR PARKING BUG-EYED IN FRONT OF THE TV!

The Basic Side

IT'S that time again... the time that challenges anew an army of vigorous American youth to the task of preparation in basic education that will equip them with know-how for their tomorrows. Here young minds fresh from their bowl of wheaties, assemble for classroom and playground training. Dear Teacher, responsibility lies heavy on your shoulders. Don't forget that along with reading and writing and arithmetic—lessons in how to live God's way are needed. Teachers and students alike have God to honor and your country to save right there in your classrooms. Always remember, "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver."

Proverbs 25:11. Blending of the academic with the spiritual lessons of Jesus, the greatest teacher, offers a moral and spiritual constitution possessing all the qualities basic in life.

So They May See == 1 Corinthians 13 == So They May Hear

THOUGH I SPEAK with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.

2. And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing.

3. And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.

4. Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up,

5. Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil;

6. Rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth;

7. Beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.

CHARITY NEVER FAILETH: but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away.

9. For we know in part, and we prophesy in part.

10. But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away.

11. When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.

12. For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known.

13. And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.
